WARNS OF IMPOSTORS.

Internal Revenue Bureau Seeks Man Posed as Collector.

Internal Revenue Collector William H. Edwards issued a statement today warning the public against persons posing as officials of the Treasury Department and collecting fees under a threat that unless the amount asked for is paid criminal prosecutions will follow. Part of Mr. Edwards's warning reads: "This bureau is in receipt of a report from the Collector of the Connecticut District that a man, giving the name of Edward Wallace, is working in and around Stamford, Conn., representing himself as an Internal Revenue Collector and fraudulently collecting special taxes from proprietors of pool rooms and others."

END OF DELUGE
DUE TO-MORROW;
SUNSHINE COMING

Heavy Rains Have Damaged the Rye Crop, but Who Cares Now?

Just when bricklayers, baseball magnates, bootblacks and haymakers were on the point of going after him to-day—there were ugly suggestions that somebody had "sold out" to the Umbrella Trust—the Weather Man descended from his perch down near South Ferry and not only promised sunshine for to-morrow, but intimated sunshine for the day after, and the day after, and the day after that.

Evidence in the possession of an Evening World reporter who sloshed all the way down to Battery Place through supersaturated streets shows unmistakably that in the deluge of the past seven days New Yorkers have been discriminated against.

Syracuse and the rest of the United States have been basking in sunshine. Let the Weather Bureau confess its shame in the man's own words:

"The rain is not over yet. "It was raining this morning all along the coast from Connecticut south to Virginia.

In the interior, however, the weather is fair east to Syracuse. The Lake region, is clear. Throughout the West they have been having beautiful weather."

After this confession of favoritism it was deemed well to pin the gentleman down with Question and Answer, after the method recently introduced at Mount Clemens:

Q. And the indications? A. Probably fair to-morrow.

Q. How does this copiousness compare with the surplusage of other July's? A. Somewhat above the normal—we have had between 6 and 7 inches of rain—but nothing like the record, 9.61, established in July, 1889. This will rank as one of the "wet July's," but not a phenomenon.

Q. And the cause of all this? A. It would be hard to explain for the purposes of a newspaper article because of the technical nature of the subject. The key, no doubt, lies in weather conditions off the coast in the Atlantic.

Delvidora, N. J., came on the wire to-day to report that rains have damaged the grain crop—particularly the rye, which nobody cares a rap about any more—throughout Warren County.

On the other hand, vegetable gardens are thriving to such an extent that market prices will go up on account of the prices of rubber boots.

SWELTERING HEAT

Kora-Konia brings blessed relief to those who chafe. Kora-Konia stays put—will not readily wash or rub away. It cools, soothes, heals all irritation. Invaluable for diaper rash and teething rash of babies. Splendid for sunburn.

Now You May Eat More Beef and Lamb

The war is over; and all restrictions on meat are off.

Now you may eat all you want with a free conscience—beef, lamb, veal—three times a day if you wish.

You have done splendidly; you have helped win the war by denying yourself meat, as you have in dozens of other ways.

But you needn't hold off any more; it's over "over there" forever.

Most of the boys are back at work; army meat demands are no longer a strain.

England and other European Countries do not have to depend solely upon us any more. Ever since the beginning of the war, the American live stock raiser has been raising so much more live stock that there is plenty to go 'round.

So, go back to your meat and enjoy it.
